Dear DCRP Applicant:

You are cordially invited to the University of North Carolina's Department of City and Regional Planning Open House Weekend on March 28-29, 2008. The event is designed to give you an accurate preview of the graduate planning education that is offered here. The program will feature a faculty discussion on areas of specialization and research as well as a panel of current Master's students that will give you a picture of the learning opportunities available at UNC through research, community service, and joint degree programs. Time is scheduled for informal discussions with students and faculty on Friday evening and Saturday morning for you to ask questions about student life at UNC and see for yourself who we are. On Saturday morning we will also provide a bus tour to highlight some local areas of interest.

Attached you will find the schedule for the weekend as well as a map of the campus. To help defray cost, if needed, we can provide limited transportation and housing accommodations for you with current students for the weekend. We will have limited student shuttles running to the airport during peak arrival and departure times and will let you know via email if we can pick you up. Attached you will also find information on the regional bus, airport shuttle, and taxi companies in the area. Please indicate your travel plans on the attached form. If you are interested in staying with a current DCRP student, please indicate the nights you will need accommodations and if you have any special needs please note them on the attached form as well. In the name of better planning, something we all strive for, please send your response form in as early as possible to the address below or no later than March 14!

We are looking forward to meeting you and hope you are able to join us for the Open House Weekend. If you have any questions, please contact Carolyn Turner by email at turnerc@email.unc.edu or by phone at (919) 962-4784.

Sincerely,

The Admissions Committee
